DONORA HAVING TROUBLE WITH WATER COMPANY

Wants Pure And Undiluted Article And Are Not Getting It.

BOARD OF HEALTH BUSY

Affair May End In Court and If So Much Evidence Will Be Produced.

Representatives of the Donora Water company were in that place yesterday to confer with the board of health, who are acting on behalf of the citizens in an effort to secure better water. The people of Donora are in arms over the impure water which the company has been furnishing and demand that a filteration plant be installed as soon as possible. It is stated that if they do not comply with the wishes of the residents the matter will be taken to court.

The board of health has been working quietly for the past six months getting ready for a clash with the company, which it felt was certain to come sooner or later. Chemical tests was made of the water by chemists of Pittsburg at frequent periods during the summer, and in case the matter should go into court the health board has collected much evidence which they would offer. It is understood that the Water company will put up a big bluff to prevent the expenditure of a certain sum necessary for the installing of a good filteration plant, but the people however are not to be frightened by threats and will push the matter to the bitter end. The meeting yesterday resulted only in the arrangements being made for another session next Friday.

The Donora Water company is incorporated by the same people as the Charleroi Water company. They also control other Water companies and in several places fights are on between them and the people.

GRAND AND PETIT JURORS ARE DRAWN

The grand and petit jurors for the November term of criminal court were drawn yesterday by Sheriff Murphy and Jury Commissioners Hopkins and Barkley. Twenty-four jurors were drawn. The grand jury meets the first Monday of November and the petit jury the week following.

Walter Byerly is the only Charleroi man drawn on the grand jury, and George S. Might and W. C. Smith have been drawn as petit jurors.

Coal Shipment Decrease.

Coal and coke shipments originating along the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad company for the week ending September 26 aggregated 944,603 tons, a decrease of almost 73,000 tons as compared with the tonnage for the previous week. The tonnage was divided as follows: Anthracite coal, 107,650 tons; bituminous coal, 696,454 tons; coke, 140,603 tons. Bituminous coal tonnage decreased almost 70,000 tons. The report shows that for the year ending September 26 the total tonnage was 32,884,540, as compared with 43,329,651 tons for the corresponding period of last year.

Charleroi High Loses To Monessen

The Charleroi high school football team went to Monessen yesterday and were bested in a nice game by the Monessen High School eleven. The contest was an interesting one featured by many nice plays. The score was 12 to 5. The touchdowns were made for Monessen by Frye and Campbell, and the one for Charleroi by David Thompson, who went through the line.

Fine Prospects.

No town in Washington county has better prospects for the future than Bentleyville. The development of the coal industry has brought hundreds of new residents to the Pigeon creek valley, many of whom have settled in and adjacent to this town. Many of the mines in the valley, as well as elswehere, have been compelled to suspend, not from business conditions, but from the unprecedented drought. This is a condition that will be soon remedied at this time of the year, when coming of the frost king will place the ground in a condition to put off plentiful supply of the needful.—Bentleyville Times.

ALLEGES WIFE ABUSED HIM

Finley Wier Of Charleroi Applies For a Divorce.

The venture of Joseph Finley Weir, of Charleroi, on the matrimonial sea was a brief and tempestuous one, according to the statement filed yesterday by his attorney in an application for divorce on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Weir states that he was married November 4 1906, and avers that his wife, Sarah Haines Weir, "in violation of her marriage vows and the laws of this comommwealth almost immediately after said marriage offered such indignities to the person of the libellant as to render his condition intolerable and life a burden, finally thereby compelling him to withdraw from his home and family on or about November 7, 1907. During this time the respondent continually subjected libellant to gross indignities, treating him in the presence of others with great distrespect, using insulting, vile, indecent and threatening language and frequently threatening and using personal violence to him. On the aforesaid 7th day of November, 1907, in the aforesaid borough, county and state, the said respondent, with force and arms violently assaulted and shot with a pistol the said libellant, whereupon the said respondent was indicted, tried, convicted and imprisoned."

A subpoena was awarded returnable the first Monday of November.

CAUGHT UNDER TREE; LEG BROKEN

Charleroi Man Sawing Down Large Oak, Caught When It Falls.

Charles Rinzol, laborer for Hastings, Piper and Owens, who are constructing the new road near Bentleyville, had a leg broken while at work this morning. The accident happened at about eight o'clock. The injured man after having the bones set by a Bentleyville physician was brought to his home at 318 Fallowfield avenue, this place, where further attention was given. The leg was badly lacerated.

Rinzol was engaged in cutting down trees along the course of the roadway, using a cross cut saw. He was working away on one of the large oaks, when it started to fall. Rinzol tried to escape but was unable to get out of the way and was caught when the immense oak came crashing down. He was pulled out from under the limbs by some companions and a doctor called. After the injured member was dressed, the man was brought to his home here in a grocery wagon.

Good Indication.

Some one supposed to be in a position to know states that on the 29th of last April the number of idle cars was 413,000 and on the 6th of September the number had been reduced 173,587. This seems to be a pretty fair indication that business in general has picked up quite a little bit in the past four months.

WOMAN PLACES BLAME FOR DISASTER AT NAOMI MINES

Mrs. Moore Defends Right To Cancel Agreement With Company.

ALLEGES GREAT WASTE

Defendant In Suit Makes Strong Answer In Court.

Alleging that faulty mining methods and poor engineering had caused the explosion in Naomi mine December 1, last, which resulted in the deaths of 34 men, Elizabeth S. Moore, of Westmoreland county, yesterday filed answer to the equity action in the Fayette county courts brought against her by the Naomi Coal company to restrain her from endeavoring to cancel an agreement whereby the company is mining a lot of her coal upon royalties.

Her agreement was made with Rufus Crawford, giving him the mining rights for 25 years, but this was subsequently transferred to the Naomi Coal company. A portion of the coal is in Washington township, Fayette county, and the remainder in Rostraver township, Westmoreland county.

The defendant, in her answer, defends her right to cancel the agreement on the ground that the plaintiff company has been negligent, that the mining has been slipshod and that but one half the coal is being taken out, the remainder being wasted and that her claim for waste prior to January 1, last, amounted to 159,731 tons.

The defendant says that her survey showed that 120,00 tons of coal to the acre was the proper amount in the ground there, but that but 6,031 tons per acre were mined. She also alleges that by reason of the "proper mining" there has been a crush or squeeze on the whole of her property and that a large block of coal had to be abandoned.

Pay-As-You-Enter Cars On

Operation of the new pay-as-you-enter cars of the Pittsburg Railways company will be started tomorrow on several lines in the city, and it is expected they will prove an immediate success. If so it is probable the new cars will be placed on other lines. The cars are of the most modern construction, are the heaviest and strongest ever operated on the Pittsburg system, have the popular cross seats and are designed to add to the safety and comfort of the passenger.

Bookets have been prepared for circulation among the patrons of the system and it is believed that with the hearty co-operation of the public the pay-as-you enter system of fare collection will prove popular as it will remove the annoyance now occasioned by a conductor passing through a crowded car during the collection of fares.

Entrance over the front platform will not be permitted, it being used entirely as an exit. Entrance will be over the rear platform only and on this will be stationed the conductor, who will insist upon the collection of a fare before the passenger is allowed to enter the car.

BILL LATTER PART OF WEEK GOOD ONE

The bill the latter part of this week at the Star theatre is a good one, and is taking well. Fred R. Edwards, the Italian Character Impersonator, who is known far and wide as Mariutch's Husband has a good act which is highly entertaining.

Ansel and Donian, the head and hand balancers have something worth while to offer to the patrons of the popular Fallowfield avenue house. Their work is little short of wonderful. The illustrated song and pictures are good.

Surplus Equipment Decreased.

Another bulletin from the car efficiency committee of the American Railway association shows that the number of idle cars in this country has been reduced to approximately 8 per cent of the total number owned by all the railroads that are members of the association. There are outside lines that do not report to the association, but the figures are considered as a reasonable indication of the surplus situation. It is estimated that the association roads own and control about 2,200,000 cars. Up to July and August the number of cars out of service was practically stationary. Of the 413,000 cars reported idle on April 29, no less than 240,000 have been placed in service.

Company A Leaves For Philadelphia Tonight

Company A, Tenth Regiment, under Capt. Keller and Lieut. Hodson leave tonight for Philadelphia to be in the parade Monday morning, the first day of Founders week. The command which will number sixty men will leave Monongahela on the 6:21 train and will get in Philadelphia tomorrow morning at six or seven o'clock.

Sunday and Sunday night the troops will have to themselves, and quite a number of places will be thrown open to them. The local command will probably return Tuesday forenoon, leaving Philadelphia a little after midnight Monday.

There will be about four from Charleroi go with the command. Dr J. K. Parsons, recently elected to First Lieutenant of Co. H. 14th Reg., will parade with that company.

Schools At Bentleyville In Crowded Condition

Bentleyville, Oct. 2.—Owing to the overcrowded condition of the public schools of this thriving borough it has become necessary to remove the high school to a new room recently furnished in the hall of the I. O. O. F. building. The schools are in a flourishing condition and it is understood that arrangements will be completed to have an eight room building erected the coming winter. Many students are in attendance from Scenery Hill, Ellsworth, Cokeburg and other surrounding places where there is no high school.

This week the school board held a meeting and elected Miss Lillian Buckingham, of Scenery Hill, as teacher of No. 4 primary room. Four years ago before the industrial development here a four roomed school building was erected. At that time it was thought foolishness to have so many rooms. The development have made this place one of the busiest centers in the county and in order to accommodate the growing demands for education it will be necessary to erect another building before the opening of the school term next year.

Four years ago about 35 students were in attendance in the schools of the town. At the present over 200 are enrolled, with more to enter. Five teachers are now employed.

STAGES MAINTAINED WITHIN A LIMIT

Stages in the lower pools in the Monongahela river are being maintained within a limit to protect loaded coal craft by drawing water from pool No. 9, and the dams nearer headwaters, over 100 miles distant from Pittsburg. To renew the supply in the lower pools Maj. H. C. Newcomer, United States engineer in charge of river improvements, who is keeping in close touch with pool stages to protect the loaded coalboats and barges moored in the lower pools, has instructed lock keepers at No. 9 to retain sufficient water to maintain a navigable stage of five feet in that pool. Under instructions when the marks show a greater stage the excess is drawn off and fills No. 8, where the frequent use of this lock and others farther down the river permits enough water to escape to maintain an average stage of six feet in pools Nos. 1 and 2.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION AT MONONGAHELA

A convention of the Epworth league will be held at Monongahela Sunday night in the Methodist church at that place and delegates will be present from Charleroi, Donora and other places of the valley, and this county. G. H. Thomas of Charleroi will deliver an address on "Stewards of Social Life."

Glass Received Into Membership

Vandergrift, Pa., Oct. 22.—Declaring the Methodist Episcopal church knows no "upper crust," Bishop Joseph F. Berry, who is presiding at the sessions of the Pittsburg Conference here, sounded a warning against bigotry and intolerance in an address this morning when 10 young ministers were received into full conference membership. "There is room for all denominations," he said.

The class received into full membership after satisfactorily answering the disciplinaay questions, includes: Ralph Bell, John H. Lancaster, Robert E. Walker, E. L. Pierce, John Hall, John V. Thompson, Thomas M. Dunke, Oliver E. Barker, Harry G. Gregg and Daniel M. Paul.

John S. Allison formerly of Charleroi, was continued on trial and advanced to the studies of the third year.

VIADUCT HAS BEEN CONNECTED UP

Canonsburg, Oct. 2.—Fort Pitt Bridge company has connected up the East Canonsburg viaduct, and on Friday afternoon the men were engaged in taking down the derricks. The viaduct is a fine peace of work, and good time was made in putting it up. On the outside of the track there will be a good foot-walk and the track will have heavy guard-timber on either side. About all that is now needed to complete the street car line from Canonsburg to Pittsburg is the laying of the track across this viaduct.

Excellent Start.

The first public school month has just ended in Charleroi and the reports have been made. The excellence of these as a whole as compared with those of last year are surprising. It is a compliment to the head of the schools and the instructors under him, not only for their ability to teach but to retain such excellent order throughout. It is certainly something worthy to be able to reduce the cases of corporal punishment forty-three, for the first month of the year, and making the number who suffered bodily from their misdeeds so few that it is hardly noticeable What better evidence of the improvement in the local school system could be asked than this?

It would be thought that with the large number of families that moved away during the summer months, the school attendance would have been greatly diminished, but strange to say such was not the case, the total number of pupils enrolled in the four schools during the month of September, 1908, surpassing the enrollment in the same month of the preceding year. The report as a whole is a tribute to the ability of the superintendents of schools and his instructors, and reflects with credit upon the directors themselves for their wisdom and foresight in creating a new system last summer in the management of the local schools.

Makes Bow.

The Mail welcomes to its exchange desk a new weekly publication, "The Bentleyville Times," which makes its appearance this week.

The paper is a bright sheet, of eight pages and contains all the local news of the little country town, besides a review of the events of interest which have transpired during the week in the county. The editor and manager of the "Times" is Lloyd E. Flint, who is ably assisted by Sid C. Wilson, formerly of the Finleyville Exponent.

The publication is affiliated in a way with the Monongahela Times, of which Mr. Flint is editor.

EDITOR OF BINGVILLE BUGLE HAS NEW JOB

The editor of the Bingville Bugle, which is well known to readers of the Sunday Dispatch, has a new job. The issue of the National Sportsman for October contains the following concerning the matter:

Our new editor, Newton Newkirk, is so all-fired modest that he declines to publish his picture in the National Sportsman—that is, in the part of the magazine over which he has charge. But we want our readers to meet "Newt," and know what he looks like, so we have taken a page in the advertising section of the magazine for this purpose.

Mr. Newkirk is well known as a newspaper writer, in connection with his work on the Ohio State Journal, of Columbus, Ohio, and the Boston Post, but we feel that he has really come into his own as editor of this magazine, for he is a true sportsman in every sense of he word.

Many of our readers have asked us "Who is Newton Newkirk?" or "Is Newton Newkirk his real name?" Perhaps the best way to answer these questions will be to print an autobiography written by Mr. Newkirk some seven years ago, which was published in the Ohio State Journal.

"Arrived Aug. 29, 1870, on a farm near Bentleyville, Washington county, Pa. Didn't know whether I'd stay for the first three years or so—whoopin' cough, croup and things. Was forced into school at the tender age of seven years, had to traipse over a mile across farms to get there. The teacher couldn't pound much through my head, so he tried to pound it through elsewhere, but without success.

When I was eight years old the folks moved into the city (Bentleyville—150 inhabitants and a blacksmith shop.) where I learned to run when other boys wanted to fight. Sometimes they caught me and I got another lickin' when I arrived home.

Old Pigeon "Crick" used to flow past Bentleyville; I believe it does yet, and I'd like to be back there sprawled on the bank, with a "wiler" pole angin' out over the sunfish hoe.

When I was 13 I sent news items from Bentleyville to the Monongahela Republican, the nearest weekly, nine miles away. I kept the anxious public posted about all the newly-born calves and other thrilling happenings of the neighborhood.

When I was 16 I did my first actual newspaper work for the Washington, Pa. Reporter at $3 a week. I paid my board bill and other expenses out of that amount, and then squandered the balance in riotous living. I often look back on those spendthrift days and deplore my extravagance.

When I was 18 I taught a country school one term at Clover Hill, four miles from Bentleyville, but didn't like it. I had to study too hard to keep up with the advanced arithmetic class.

When my school term was out I went to Mt. Union college, at Alliance, O., where I worked on the Alliance Daily Review at intervals during my course. After five years of hard labor I was graduated in 1893 to the great surprise of my friends and the members of the factulty, who wondered how I did it.

Upon leaving college, I went to Pittsburg to show the editors there how to run a city newspaper, but I was so nearly starved to death before I got a job, that I hadn't the heart to do it. I worked on the Pittsburg Post two years, and thereafter on the Times and Dispatch in turn.

In 1896 I went to Canal Dover, O., and bought a small interest in a country weekly there, with which I was connected over three years. From Canal Dover I first began to send "pomes" and other thing to the Ohio State Journal. I probably saved my life many times in sending them by mail.

Through the kindness of the editor of the Black Cat of Boston I am now a resident of the Hub and responsible for the "All Sorts" column in the Boston Post. Scarcely a day passes that I do not revenge myself on about 250,000 readers.

Newton Newkirk.

Mr. Newkirk is well known in Washington County. He is better known here as Clyde Newkirk. For a number of years he has been the editor of "The Bingville Bugle" a popular feature of the Sunday papers.

The complaint of a correspondent of the New York World that no New York hotel supplies a hook from which a sojourner can suspend his razor strap reminds us that the metropolitan hotels also neglect to provide bootjacks and roller towels.

It is wicked for us to go about with faces which indicate that life has been a disappointment to us instead of a glorious joy it shows that we have missed the real object of living: that we have never caught a glimpse of the realities of life, but that we are living in the shadows, in the gloom instead of the sunshine of reality, of truth, of beauty. It indicates that we have not even caught a glimpse of the real glory of life.

SOUTHERN MEN TO MEET EARLY IN DECEMBER

Washington, D. C. Oct. 3.—The National Conservation Commission has received word that at least a thousand of the leading business men of the South will be present in Washington when the Commission holds its first full meeting here early in December. This information comes in a letter from G. Grosvenor Dawes, Secretary of the Montgomery, Ala., Commercial Club, who tells of a meeting of the representatives of numerous business associations in the Southern States, held in Atlanta. These men formed a working organization, and, after receiving assurances of support from commercial bodies all through the South issued a call for a Southern Commercial Congress. The time and place were set so that the members can be in Washington during the first meeting of the Conservation Commission on December 1, the Conference between the Commission and the Governors of the States or their representatives which follow, on December 8, and the meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress which will be held here during that time, in the proceedings of all white men who will compose the Southern Commercial Congress are intensely interested from a business standpoint. The chief purpose of the Southerners in holding their big meeting is, in the words of one of the originators, "the provoking of a fuller understanding by the people of the South of the gifts that nature has placed under their control." But, without discounting the vital importance of promoting the business interests of their section of the country, the promoters of this Congress in Washington say they hope that it will have an even deeper significance and bring about a closer union between the North and South. "Of course the Congress had practical and commercial aspects," says one of these men, "but there lies in the minds of the originators an ethical purpose looking towards a fuller understanding and union between those who have for a generation suffered from misunderstandings and a seeming separation of interests."

KNOWN BY NICKNAMES.

Places Where a Genuine Surname Is Never Even Heard.

In many places in Great Britain and especially in some of the Welsh villages of Cornwall and certain parts of Scotland, such a thing as a genuine surname is never even heard. Every man in the place is known by a nickname.

In most of these villages this has been brought about originally by the fact that all the inhabitants have only had very few surnames among them. One or two prevailing families have represented the population and have married and intermarried till trying to distinguish a man by his surname has only created confusion. And even some of the Christian names have begun to run in the same way. At a village not very far from Wick the writer knows of some fishermen who had originally been nicknamed "Dumps" and had left so many descendants that other specific nicknames had been necessary to distinguished which of the "Dumps" was meant on given occasions.

At another village not far from this one several Christian names have in the same way become the only known family names. The writer was once in the general store here when a small boy came in and asked for some article, stating that it was for Blower.

"Blower?" said the shopkeeper. "Which Blower? There are scores of Blowers?"

The child answered at once.

"It's for 'Peter the Blower's Bobbie'"—London Answers.

Fruit Cream for Dinner.

Those who like the taste of fruit after every meal will surely like this new dessert, which has been tried for afternoon teas at country clubs.

It is made by cutting into bits pineapple, oranges, walnuts, bananas and marshmallows. These are stirred into whipped cream that has been put in the refrigerator and made quite cold.

The mixture is turned out into the small tumblers used at soda water fountains for all such concoctions. As an addition a macaroon is often put on the top or a small bit of brandied peach or a brandied cherry.

The young matron who has Sunday dinners could prepare such a refreshing sweet beforehand. Served with her roast it would satisfy any appetite.

Rouge Used on Ear Tips.

It has been remarked that certain women who sit on the piazzas of summer hotels this season are coloring the French idea of rosing up a little about the tips of their ears. "Women who will not make up in the daytime," says a woman who returned recently from Paris, "rouge the tips of their ears. The redness of the ear lobes brings out the whiteness of the cheeks. The women whose cheeks are white make their appear ruddy by rouging the tips of their ears and the 'pink.'" This ought to furnish a fresh topic of conversation to those who sit out on the summer piazzas and have everlasting discussions on beauty dressmakers and age.

Alum For Toothache.

Every one does not know that alum in boiled milk is good for toothache. A piece of it should be boiled in the milk and then the fluid held in the mouth, not swallowed.

Alum is also good for a mouth wash in cold water. It checks any bleeding of the gums and heals and antiseptizes the wounds.

If a woman has receding gums which are apt to bleed a little after eating unpeeled fruit or corn on the cob or certain meats she would do well to keep alum dissolved in cold water in the bathroom and rinse the mouth with it after every meal and especially before she retires at night.

Man's Greatest Pleasures.

What are man's greatest pleasures? While the great thinkers of thought have been publicly trying to answer this all important question and, as usual, have only involved a mere intellectual controversy, we have been working quietly and have obtained some startling results. Here is the list complete:

Hearing ourselves talk.
Articulating.
Listening to ourselves.
Ejaculating.
Conversing.
Speaking.
And last, but not least, talking.

THE GRAMPUS GOURMET.

This Marine Monster's Prey Is the Bowhead Whale.

"Of all the gourmets on land or water," said the captain, "commend me to the grampus."

The ladies at the captain's table looked with inquiring smiles at the handsome sailor.

"The grampus," he went on, "is a kind of overgrown shark or a kind of undersized fighting whale. You can take your choice. At any rate, he is a terrible creature to meet with if you happen to be aquatic.

"He and his mate travel together. Sometimes they have a friend along—big, fine, strong chap, as such friends usually are. And their game is the bowhead whale.

"When they find a whale they go at him. They stick to him furiously. They punch and thump till he is as limp as a rope of seaweed with exhaustion. Then, by means of one horrible deed, they show their unexampled gluttony.

"They take hold of the whale's lower lip; they hang their weight on it until it drops open. Then in go their heads, disappearing inside that great red mouth, that warm, moist cavern of scarlet, and they eat in there the whale's tongue, a tender tidbit, very rich and delicate.

"The tongue consumed, they go on their way again, leaving the whale to die slowly."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

WHITE ISLAND.

Its Strange Lakes, Sulphur Fumes and Clouds of Steam.

White island, a New Zealand natural wonder, derives its name from the clouds of white steam in which it appears to be continually enveloped. Its area is only 600 acres and its height about 880 feet above the sea level.

In form and color it is like a reposing camel, while its interior, with its gray, weather beaten, almost perpendicular cliffs, recalls the Coliseum at Rome. Overhanging the southern landing place stands a column of rock closely resembling a sentinel, which has been dedicated to the memory of Captain Cook. The water of the island is of a pale green hue, and anything dipped into it becomes of a red brick color. The fumes of sulphur are always plainly perceptible.

On a fine moonlight night a wonderful sight is afforded to any one who will sit in an open boat in one of the lakes of the island. Covering an area of fifty acres is an immense caldron, hissing and snorting and sending forth volumes of poisonous steam, while all chances of egress appear to be denied by the steep, silent and gloomy cliffs.—British Australian.

Elephant Housebreakers

Several elephants belonging to a circus which had been visiting Bournemouth, England, were passing through Christchurch when two of their number walked into a corn dealer's yard.

One of the animals smashed open a door of the corn store, but found that the entrance was not wide enough to admit the body. The smaller elephant, however, managed to get into the store and quickly devoured a quantity of dog biscuits and kept tossing some of them into the roadway for the benefit of the other elephants, who could not secure them otherwise.

The depredation was stopped by the arrival of the keeper, who had to recompense the corn dealer for his loss.

The First Telescope.

It is said that the celebrated Roger Bacon was acquainted with the properties of the lens and that one Leonard Digges about 1573 arranged glasses so that he could see distant objects. But it seems that the first practical telescope was made by Galilei, January, 1610.—New York American.

The Reason Why.

When Bobby was a country boy he had the greatest fun.
With naught to do the livelong day, he lived out in the sun.
He rolled upon the grass, and he sprawled beneath the trees.
His clothes were old; his stockings, too, had extra double knees.
He grew as sturdy as could be. His hands and face grew brown.
His mother said, "You'll lose your tan when we go back to town."
When Bobby was a city boy he had to go to school
And study, oh, so very hard when days and nights grew cool.
His breakfast he would hurry through and off to school would race.
His mother said, "I believe you haven't taken time to wash your face."
And Bobby, growing very red, yet spoke up like a man,
"I'm 'fraid to wash my face, mamma, for fear I'll lose my tan."

Sleeps in Cold Storage.

There is an apartment house in New York which has what is known as cold storage. In each apartment there is a kitchen which is supplied with a refrigerator. Inside the refrigerator it is always ice cold, says the New York Sun. A coil of pipes is covered with perpetual frost. The owner of one of these apartments opens the refrigerator door on very hot nights and sets an electric fan in front of it. In a short time the air of the whole apartment is cooled.

Brown Bread.

This is a new recipe and very nice: One-half cupful of Indian meal, one and one-half cupfuls of graham flour, one cupful of rye meal, one cupful of sour milk, one cupful of molasses, one cupful of water, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in sour milk and one teaspoonful of salt.

Rather Clever.

Something more than quiet humor is in this paragraph, printed at the end of the Edmonton Opera House regulations by Manager Brandon: "Any old ladies afraid of taking cold may keep on their hats or bonnets."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Milk for the baby can be kept warm the whole night if it is kept near a hot water bottle, the two wrapped in a woolen blanket. It has been known to keep warm until daylight.

Blackberries with sugar and orange juice to taste are delicious if thoroughly chilled before serving as a dessert for the summer dinner.

Hair Pulling Match; Two Are Arrested

Yesterday afternoon a lady by the name of Barbe Bronson, hailing from Steubenville came to Charleroi with the intention it is said of having her picture taken. She started for Morris Studio, and got in the building all right, but it is said wanted to go into the wrong room.

Mrs. Morris the wife of the photographer it is stated remonstrated and as a result a pitched battle ensued between the two. The police were called and arrested both. At a hearing before Burgess Hott last night Miss Bronson was fined $2 and costs and the other discharged. The former at once brought suit against Mrs. Morris before Justice Wilson, and at a hearing the costs were placed on the defendant.

RESPONDENTS IN CASE AGAINST CITY ANSWER

Washington, Oct. 3.—In the action brought by the commonwealth, ex rel, C. L. V. Acheson, district attorney, upon the suggestion and complaint of James P. Brownlee, S. M. Charlton and C. W. Adams, qualified electors of the borough of Washington, against the burgess and the town council of Washington, the respondents have filed their answer.

They aver that the petition for a mandamus is premature, and that it is not made, appear that there has been any refusal on the part of the council to act upon the petition presented to that body. They allege that the law does not require them to act forthwith on the matter, but that they have a right to take the necessary time to consider and verify the same, either at its regular meeting or at a subsequent meeting if they deem it necessary. They deny that the question was tabled indefinitely, but simply tabled, and that this does not amount to a refusal to act. The answer in full shows the feelling of those councilmen opposed to the third-class city movement, and that they expect to take advantage of every technical point to delay the matter. The court not having time to hear the matter this week, and postponing the hearing until Monday, has shortened the time between now and the general election, and it is suggested that if council should act on the petition now, the question could not be acted upon this fall. In the answer prepared by Attorney G. P. Baker, solicitor for the borough, facts undisputed are averred as true in the first paragraphs of the respondents answer.

REV. MOORE PREACHES THE PLAIN GOSPEL

The Rev. J. H. Moore, of Taylorstown, who caused such a stir in the Christian church at Taylorstown by preaching the plain gospel to his flock a few days ago, and of whom an article was published last week, has stated that he would not deliver any more sermons in Taylorstown but would leave in a few days for the south where he had two places in view.

Mr. Moore stated that the trouble in the church had been peacefully settled and that the congregation had paid him $484.65, the balance of his year's salary. He remarked that it was his intention to preach the gospel according to the dictates of his own conscience regadless of how hard it hit the members of his flock wherever he chanced to be.

Last Sunday Mr. Moore preached in the school house at Taylorstown to a crowded house but said he would hold no more services in the town. He is from Kentucky and will go back to the southland.

DONORA HAVING TROUBLE WITH WATER COMPANY

Wants Pure And Undiluted Article And Are Not Getting It.

BOARD OF HEALTH BUSY

Affair May End In Court If So Much Evidence Will Be Produced.

Representatives of the Donora Water company went in their place yesterday to confer with the board of health, which has been called by the citizens in an effort to secure better water. The people of Donora have an arms over ten in pure water. The company has been furnishing and demand that a filteration be installed as soon as possible. It stated that if they do not comply with the wishes of the residents the matter will be taken to court.

The board of health has been working quietly for the past six months getting ready for a clash with the company, which it felt was certain to come sooner or later. Chemical tests was made of the water by chemists of Pittsburg at frequent periods during the summer, and in case the matter should go into court the health board has collected much evidence which they would offer. It is understood that the Water company will put up a big bluff to prevent the expenditure of a certain sum necessary for the installing of a good filteration plant, the people however are not to be frightened by threats and will push the matter to the bitter end. The meeting yesterday resulted only in the arrangements being made for another session next Friday.

The Donora Water company is incorporated by the same people as the Charleroi Water company. They also control other Water companies and in several places fights are on between them and the people.

GRAND AND PETIT JURORS ARE DRAWN

The grand and petit jurors for the November term of criminal court were drawn yesterday by Sheriff Murphy and Jury Commissioners Hopkins and Barkley. Twenty-four jurors were drawn. The grand jury meets the first Monday of November and the petit jury the week following.

Walter Byerly is the only Charleroi man drawn on the grand jury, and George S. Might and W. C. Smith have been drawn as petit jurors.

The tonnage was divided as follows: Anthracite coal, 107,650 tons; bituminous coal, 696,474 tons; coke, 140,603 tons. Bituminous coal tonnage decreased almost 70,000 tons. The report shows that for the year ending September 26 the total tonnage was 32,884,540, as compared with 43,329,651 tons for the corresponding period of last year.

Charleroi High Loses To Monessen

The Charleroi high school football team went to Monessen yesterday and were bested in a nice game by the Monessen High School eleven. The contest was an interesting one featured by many nice plays. The score was 12 to 5. The touchdowns were made for Monessen by Frye and Campbell, and the one for Charleroi by David Thompson, who went through the line.

Fine Prospects.

No town in Washington county has [illegible] Bentleyville. The development of the coal industry has brought hundreds of new residents to the Pigeon creek valley, many of whom have settled in and adjacent to this town. Many of them are in the valley, as well as considerable outside capital is to suspend, not from business conditions, but from the unprecedented drought. This is a condition that will be soon remedied at this time of the year, when coming of the frost king will place the ground in a condition to put off plentiful supply of the needful.—Bentleyville Times.

ALLEGES WIFE ABUSED HIM

Finley Wier Of Charleroi Applies For a Divorce.

The venture of Joseph Finley Weir of Charleroi, on the matrimonial sea was a brief and tempestuous one, according to the statement filed yesterday by his attorney in an application for divorce on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

[illegible] November 4 1906 and avers that his wife, Sarah Haines Weir, in violation of her marriage vows and the laws of this commonwealth almost immediately after said marriage offered such indignities to the person of the libellant as to render his condition [illegible] thereby compelling him to withdraw [illegible] November 7, 1907. [illegible] this time the respondent continually subjected libellant to gross [illegible] treating him in the presence of others with great contempt using insulting vile, indecent and threatening language and frequently threatening and using personal violence to him. On the aforesaid 7th day of November, 1907, in the aforesaid borough, county and state, the said respondent, with force and arms unlawfully assaulted and shot with a pistol the said libellant, whereupon the said respondent was indicted true convicted and imprisoned.

A subpoena was awarded returnable the first Monday of November.

CAUGHT UNDER TREE; LEG BROKEN

Charleroi Man Sawing Down Large Oak, Caught When It Falls.

Charles Rinzol, laborer for Hastings, Piper and Owens, who are constructing the new road near Bentleyville, had a leg broken while at work this morning. The accident happened at about eight o'clock. The injured man after having the bones set by a Bent[illegible] home at 815 Fallowfield avenue, this place, where further attention was given. The leg was badly lacerated.

Rinzol was engaged in cutting down trees along the course of the roadway, using a cross cut saw. He was working away on one of the large oaks, when it started to fall. Rinzol tried to escape but was unable to get out of the way and was caught when the immense oak came crashing down. He was pulled out from under the limbs of some companions and a doctor called. After the injured member was dressed the man was brought to his home here in a grocery wagon.

Good Indication

Some one supposed to be in a position to know states that on the 29th of last April the number of idle cars was 413,000 and on the 6th of September the number had been reduced 172,587. This seems to be a pretty fair indication that business in general has picked up quite a little bit in the past four months.

WOMAN PLACES BLAME FOR DISASTER AT NAOMI MINES

Mrs. Moore Defends Right To Cancel Agreement With Company.

ALLEGES GREAT WASTE

Defendant In Suit Makes Story Of Court.

Alleging that [illegible] mining methods and poor engineering had caused the explosion in Naomi mine December 1, [illegible] the loss of 34 men, Elizabeth S. Moore, of West Moreland county, yesterday filed answer to the equity action in the Fayette court, courts brought against her by the Naomi Coal company to restrain her from endeavoring to cancel an agreement whereby the company is mining a lot of her coal upon royalties.

Her agreement was made with Rufus Crawford, giving him the mining rights for 25 years, but this was subsequently transferred to the Naomi Coal company. A portion of the coal is in Washington township, Fayette county, and the remainder in Rostraver township, Westmoreland county.

The defendant, in her answer, defends her right to cancel the agreement on the ground that the plaintiff company has been negligent, that the mining has been slipshod and that but one half the coal is being taken out, the remainder being wasted and that her claim for waste prior to January 1, last, amounted to 159,731 tons.

The defendant says that her survey showed that 120,00 tons of coal to the acre was the proper amount in the ground there, but that but 6 [illegible] tons per acre were mined. She also alleges that by reason of the "proper mining there has been a crush or squeeze on the whole of her property and that a large block of coal had to be abandoned.

Pay-As-You-Enter Cars On

Company A Leaves For Philadelphia Tonight

The command, which will number sixty men will leave Monongahela on the 5:21 train and will get in Philadelphia tomorrow morning at six or seven o'clock.

Sunday and Sunday night the troops will have to themselves and some a number of places will be thrown open to them. The local command will probably return Tuesday forenoon, leaving Philadelphia a little after midnight Monday.

There will be about four [illegible] Charleroi go with the command. Dr. J. K. Parsons, recently elected to First Lieutenant of Co. H 14th Reg., will parade with that company.

Schools At Bentleyville In Crowded Condition

Bentleyville, Oct. 2.—Owing to the overcrowded condition of the public schools of this thriving borough it has become necessary to remove the high school to a new room recently furnished in the hall of the I. O. O. F. building. The schools are in a flourishing condition and it is understood that arrangements will be completed to have an eight room building erected the coming winter. Many students are in attendance from Scenery Hill, Ellsworth, Cokeburg and other surrounding places where there is no high school.

This week the school board held a meeting and elected Miss Lillian Buckingham, [illegible] Stanley Thomas as [illegible] teacher of No. 4 primary room. Four years ago before the industrial development here a four roomed school building was erected. At that time it was thought foolishness to have so many rooms. The development have made this place one of the busiest centers in the county and in order to accommodate the growing demands for education it will be necessary to erect another building before the opening of the school term next year.

Four years ago about 95 students were in attendance in the schools of the town. At the present over 200 are enrolled, with more to enter. Five teachers are now employed.

BILL LATTER PART OF WEEK GOOD ONE

The bill the latter part of this week at the Star theatre is a good one, and is taking well. Fred R. Edwards, the Italian Character Impersonator, who is known far and wide as Mariutch's Husband has a good act which is highly entertaining.

Ansel and Dorian, the head and hand balancers have something worth while to offer to the patrons of the popular Fallowfield avenue house. Their work is little short of wonderful. The illustrated song and pictures are good.

Surplus Equipment Decreased.

Another bulletin from the car efficiency committee of the American Railway association shows that the number of idle cars in this country has been reduced to approximately 5 per cent of the total number owned by all the railroads that are members of the association. There are outside lines that do not report to the association, but the figures are considered as a reasonable indication of the surplus situation. It is estimated that the association roads own and control about 2,200,000 cars. Up to July and August the number of cars out of service was practically stationary. Of the 413,600 cars reported idle on April 29, no less than 240,000 have been placed in service.

STAGES MAINTAINED WITHIN A LIMIT

Stages in the lower pools in the Monongahela river are being maintained within a limit to protect loaded coal craft by drawing water from pool No. 9 and the dams nearer headwaters, over 100 miles distant from Pittsburg. To renew the supply in the lower pools Maj. H. C. Newcomer, United States engineer in charge of river improvements, who is keeping in close touch with pool stages to protect the loaded coalboats and barges moored in the lower pools, has instructed lock keepers at No. 9 to retain sufficient water to maintain a navigable stage of five feet in that pool. Under instructions when the marks show a greater stage the excess is drawn off and fills No. 8, where the frequent use of this lock and others farther down the river permits enough water to escape to maintain an average stage of six feet in pools Nos. 1 and 2.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION AT MONONGAHELA

Glass Received Into Membership

Vandergrift, Pa., Oct. 22.—Declaring the Methodist Episcopal church knows no "upper crust," Bishop Joseph F. Berry, who is presiding at the sessions of the Pittsburg Conference here, sounded a warning against bigotry and intolerance in an address this morning when 10 young ministers were received into full conference membership. "There is room for all denominations," he said.

The class received into full membership after satisfactorily answering the disciplinaay questions, includes: Ralph Bell, John H. Lancaster, Robert E. Walker, E. L. Pierce, John Hall, John V. Thompson, Thomas M. Dunke, Oliver E. Barker, Harry G. Gregg and Daniel M. Paul.

John S. Allison formerly of Charleroi, was continued on trial and advanced to the studies of the third year.

VIADUCT HAS BEEN CONNECTED UP

Canonsburg, Oct. 2.—Fort Pitt Bridge company has connected up the East Canonsburg viaduct, and on Friday afternoon the men were engaged in taking down the derricks. The viaduct is a fine peace of work, and good time was made in putting it up. On the outside of the track there will be a good foot-walk and the track will have heavy guard-timber on either side. About all that is now needed to complete the street car line from Canonsburg to Pittsburg is the laying of the track across this viaduct.

Excellent Start.

The first public school month has just ended in Charleroi and the reports have been made. The excellence of these as a whole as compared with those of last year are surprising. It is a compliment to the head of the schools and the instructors under him, not only for their ability to teach but to retain such excellent order throughout. It is certainly something worthy to be able to reduce the cases of corporal punishment forty-three, for the first month of the year, and making the number who suffered bodily from their misdeeds so few that it is hardly noticeable. What better evidence of the improvement in the local school system could be asked than this?

It would be thought that with the large number of families that moved away during the summer months, the school attendance would have been greatly diminished, but strange to say such was not the case, the total number of pupils enrolled in the four schools during the month of September, 1908, surpassing the enrollment in the same month of the preceding year. The report as a whole is a tribute to the ability of the superintendents of schools and his instructors, and reflects with credit upon the directors themselves for their wisdom and foresight in creating a new system last summer in the management of the local schools.

Makes Bow.

The Mail welcomes to its exchange desk a new weekly publication, "The Bentleyville Times," which makes its appearance this week.

The paper is a bright sheet, of eight pages and contains all the local news of the little country town, besides a review of the events of interest which have transpired during the week in the county. The editor and manager of the "Times" is Lloyd E. Flint, who is ably assisted by Sid C. Wilson, formerly of the Finleyville Exponent.

The publication is affiliated in a way with the Monongahela Times, of which Mr. Flint is editor.

EDITOR OF BINGVILLE BUGLE HAS NEW JOB

The editor of the Bingville Bugle, which is well known to readers of the Sunday Dispatch, has a new job. The issue of the National Sportsman for October contains the following concerning the matter:

Our new editor, Newton Newkirk, is so all-fired modest that he declines to publish his picture in the National Sportsman—that is, in the part of the magazine over which he has charge. But we want our readers to meet "Newt," and know what he looks like, so we have taken a page in the advertising section of the magazine for this purpose.

Mr. Newkirk is well known as a newspaper writer, in connection with his work on the Ohio State Journal, of Columbus, Ohio, and the Boston Post, but we feel that he has really come into his own as editor of this [illegible] he is a true sportsman in every sense of he word.

Many of our readers have asked us "Who is Newton Newkirk?" or "Is Newton Newkirk his real name?" Perhaps the best way to answer these questions will be to print an autobiography written by Mr. Newkirk some seven years ago, which was published in the Ohio State Journal.

"Arrived Aug. 29, 1870, on a farm near Bentleyville, Washington county, Pa. Didn't know whether I'd stay for the first three years or so—whoopin' cough, croup and things. Was forced into school at the tender age of seven years, had to traipse over a mile across farms to get there. The teacher couldn't pound much through my head, so he tried to pound it through elsewhere, but without success.

When I was eight years old the folks moved into the city (Bentleyville—150 inhabitants and a blacksmith shop,) where I learned to run when other boys wanted to fight. Sometimes they caught me and I got another lickin' when I arrived home.

Old Pigeon "Crick" used to flow past Bentleyville; I believe it does yet, and I'd like to be back there sprawled on the bank, with a "willer" pole angin' out over the sunfish hoe.

When I was 13 I sent news items from Bentleyville to the Monongahela Republican, the nearest weekly, nine miles away. I kept the anxious public posted about all the newly-born calves and other thrilling happenings of the neighborhood.

When I was 16 I did my first actual newspaper work for the Washington, Pa. Reporter at $3 a week. I paid my board bill and other expenses out of that amount, and then squandered the balance in riotous living. I often look back on those spendthrift days and deplore my extravagance.

When I was 18 I taught a country school one term at Clover Hill, four miles from Bentleyville, but didn't like it. I had to study too hard to keep up with the advanced arithmetic class.

When my school term was out I went to Mt. Union college, at Alliance, O., who a [illegible] since Daily Review at intervals during my course. After five years of hard labor I was graduated in 1893 to the great surprise of my friends and the members of the factulty, who wondered how I did it.

Upon leaving college, I went to Pittsburg to show the editors there how to run a city newspaper, but I was so nearly starved to death before I got a job, that I hadn't the heart to do it. I worked on the Pittsburg Post two years, and thereafter on the Times and Dispatch in turn.

In 1896 I went to Canal Dover, O., and bought a small interest in a country weekly there, with which I was connected over three years. From Canal Dover I first began to send "pomes" and other thing to the Ohio State Journal. I probably saved my life many times in sending them by mail.

Through the kindness of the editor of the Black Cat of Boston I am now a resident of the Hub and responsible for the "All Sorts" column in the Boston Post. Scarcely a day passes that I do not revenge myself on about 250,000 readers.

Newton Newkirk.

Mr. Newkirk is well known in Washington County. He is better known here as Clyde Newkirk. For a number of years he has been the editor of "The Bingville Bugle" a popular feature of the Sunday papers.

One way to avoid being disappointed in love is to marry for money.

When money talks the millionaire can afford to be a man of few words.

The only way a woman can govern her husband is not to let him know it.

The complaint of a correspondent of the New York World that no New York hotel supplies a hook from which a sojourner can suspend his razor strap reminds us that the metropolitan hotels also neglect to provide bootjacks and roller towels.

An ex-justice of the Supreme court of New Jersey has been sued for killing a dog with a golf club. True, it is a shameful use to make of such an implement.

When he was hard up we refrained from mentioning it, but now that he is out of debt we feel free to suggest that perhaps King Edward can afford to buy a few bottles of anti-fat.

Judge Parker says he doesn't want an office. Let's see! What was it the milkmaid said to the fresh guy who told her he couldn't marry her?—

It is wicked for us to go about with faces which indicate that life has been a disappointment to us instead of a glorious joy. It shows that we have missed the real object of living; that we have never caught a glimpse of the realities of life, but that we are living in the shadows, in the gloom instead of the sunshine of reality, of truth, of beauty. It indicates that we have not even caught a glimpse of [illegible].

Women brave? Guess yes. Notice how they stick to the straws after the men have fled.

SOUTHERN MEN TO MEET EARLY IN DECEMBER

Washington, D. C. Oct. 3.—The National Conservation Commission has received word that at least a thousand of the leading business men of the South will be present in Washington when the Commission holds its first full meeting here early in December. This information comes in a letter from G. Grosvenor Dawes, Secretary of the Montgomery, Ala., Commercial Club, who tells of a meeting of the representatives of numerous business associations in the Southern States, held in Atlanta. These men formed a working organization, and, after receiving assurances of support from commercial bodies all through the South issued a call for a Southern Commercial Congress. The time and place were set so that the members can be in Washington during the first meeting of the Conservation Commission on December 1, the Conference between the Commission and the Governors of the States or their representatives which follow, on December 8, and the meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress which will be held here during that time, in the proceedings of all white men who will compose the Southern Commercial Congress are intensely interested from a business standpoint. The chief purpose of the Southerners in holding their big meeting is, in the words of one of the originators, "the provoking of a fuller understanding by the people of the South of the gifts that nature has placed under their control." But, without discounting the vital importance of promoting the business interests of their section of the country, the promoters of this Congress in Washington say they hope that it will have an even deeper significance and bring about a closer union between the North and South. "Of course the Congress had practical and commercial aspects," says one of these men, "but there lies in the minds of the originators an ethical purpose looking towards a fuller understanding and union between those who have for a generation suffered from misunderstandings and a seeming separation of interests."

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Places Where a Genuine Surname Is Never Even Heard.

In many places in Great Britain and especially in some of the [illegible] villages of Cornwall and of certain parts of Scotland, such a thing as a genuine surname is never even heard. Every man in the place is known by a nickname.

In most of these villages this has been brought about originally by the fact that all the inhabitants have only had very few surnames among them. One or two prevailing families have represented the population and have married and intermarried till trying to distinguish a [illegible] by his surname has only created confusion. And even some of the [illegible] seem to get in the same way. At a village not very far from Wick the writer knows of some fishermen who had originally been nicknamed "Dumpy" and had left so many descendants that other [illegible] nicknames had been necessary to distinguished which of the "Dumpys" was meant when given occasions.

At another village not far from this one several [illegible] in the same way became the only known family names. [illegible] in the general store here when a small boy came in [illegible] asking that [illegible] "Blowers" sold [illegible] shopkeeper. "Which Blowers? There are scores of Blowers!"

The child answered at once.

"It's for [illegible] Lugged' (carrot) Blower's mother."—London Answers.

Fruit Cream for Dinner.

Those who like the taste of fruit after every meal will surely like this new dessert, which has been tried for afternoon teas at country clubs.

It is made by cutting into bits pineapple, oranges, walnuts, bananas and marshmallows. These are stirred into whipped cream that has been put in the refrigerator and made quite cold.

The mixture is turned out into the small tumblers used at soda water fountains for all such combinations. As an addition a maraschino is often put on the top or a small bit of brandied peach or a berried cherry.

The young married who has Sunday dinner could prepare such a refreshing sweet beforehand. Served with cake or [illegible] would satisfy any appetite.

Rouge Used on Ear Tips.

It has been remarked that certain women who sit on the piazzas of summer hotels this season are using the French idea of using no rouge except a little touch on the tips of their ears. "Women who will not make up in the daytime," says a woman who returned recently from Paris, "rouge the tips of their ears. The redness of the ear lobes brings out the prettiness of the cheeks. The women whose cheeks are white make them appear ruddy by rouging the tips of their ears a [illegible] pink." This ought to furnish a fresh topic of conversation to those who sit on the summer piazzas and have everlasting discussions on beauty, dressmakers and age.

Alum For Toothache.

Every one does not know that alum in boiled milk is good for toothache. A piece of it should be boiled in the milk and then the fluid held in the mouth, not swallowed.

Alum is also good for a mouth wash in cold water. It checks any bleeding of the gums and heals and antiseptizes the wounds.

If a woman has receding gums which are apt to bleed a little after eating unpeeled fruit or corn on the cob or certain meats she would do well to keep alum dissolved in cold water in the bathroom and rinse the mouth with it after every meal and especially before she retires at night.

Man's Greatest Pleasures.

What are man's greatest pleasures? While the great thinkers of thought have been publicly trying to answer this all important question and, as usual, have only involved a mere intellectual contretemps, we have been working quietly and have obtained some startling results. Here is the list complete:

Hearing ourselves talk.
Articulating.
Listening to ourselves.
Ejaculating.
Conversing.
Speaking.
And last, but not least, talking.

Elephant Housebreakers.

Several elephants belonging to a circus which had been visiting Bournemouth, England, were passing through Christchurch when two of their number walked into a corn dealer's yard.

One of the animals smashed open a door of the corn store, but found that the entrance was not wide enough to admit the body. The smaller elephant, however, managed to get into the store and quickly devoured a quantity of dog biscuits and kept tossing some of them into the roadway for the benefit of the other elephants, who could not secure them otherwise.

The depredation was stopped by the arrival of the keeper, who had to recompense the corn dealer for his loss.

The First Telescope.

It is said that the celebrated Roger Bacon was acquainted with the properties of the lens and that one Leonard Digges about 1573 arranged glasses so that he could see distant objects. But it seems that the first practical telescope was made by Galilei, January, 1610.—New York American.

The Reason Why.

When Bobby was a country boy he had the greatest fun,
With naught to do the livelong day, he lived out in the sun.
He rolled upon the grass, and he sprawled beneath the trees.
His clothes were old; his stockings, too, had extra double knees.
He grew as sturdy as could be. His hands and face grew brown.
His mother said, "You'll lose your tan when we go back to town."
When Bobby was a city boy he had to go to school
And study, oh, so very hard when days and nights grew cool.
His breakfast he would hurry through and off to school would race.
His mother said, "I believe you haven't taken time to wash your face."
And Bobby, growing very red, yet spoke up like a man,
"I'm 'fraid to wash my face, mamma, for fear I'll lose my tan."

THE GRAMPUS GOURMET.

This Marine Monster's Prey Is the Bowhead Whale.

"Of all the gourmets on land or water," said the captain, "commend me to the grampus."

The ladies at the captain's table looked with inquiring smiles at the handsome sailor.

"The grampus," he went on, "is a kind of overgrown shark or a kind of undersized fighting whale. You can take your choice. At any rate, he is a terrible creature to meet with if you happen to be aquatic.

"He and his mate travel together. Sometimes they have a friend along—big, fine, strong chap, as such friends usually are. And their game is the bowhead whale.

"When they find a whale they go at him. They stick to him invincibly. They punch and thump till he is as limp as a rope of seaweed with exhaustion. Then, by means of one horrible deed, they show their unexampled gluttony.

"They take hold of the whale's lower lip; they hang their weight on it until it drops open. Then in go their heads, disappearing inside that great red mouth, that warm, moist cavern of scarlet, and they eat in there the whale's tongue, a tender tidbit, very rich and delicate.

"The tongue consumed, they go on their way again, leaving the whale to die slowly."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

WHITE ISLAND.

Its Strange Lakes, Sulphur Fumes and Clouds of Steam.

White island, a New Zealand natural wonder, derives its name from the clouds of white steam in which it appears to be continually enveloped. Its area is only 600 acres and its height about 850 feet above the sea level.

In form and color it is like a reposing camel, while its interior, with its gray, weather beaten, almost perpendicular cliffs, recalls the Coliseum at Rome. Overhanging the southern landing place stands a column of rock closely resembling a sentinel, which has been christened in the memory of Captain Cook. The water of the island is of a pale green hue, and anything dipped into it becomes of a red brick color. The fumes of sulphur are always plainly perceptible.

On a fine moonlight night a wonderful sight is afforded to any one who will sit in an open boat in one of the lakes of the island. Covering an area of fifty acres is an immense caldron, hissing and snorting and sending forth volumes of poisonous steam, while all chances of egress appear to be denied by the steep, silent and gloomy cliffs.—British Australian.

Sleeps In Cold Storage.

There is an apartment house in New York which has what is known as cold storage. In each apartment there is a kitchen which is supplied with a refrigerator. Inside the refrigerator it is always ice cold, says the New York Sun. A coil of pipes is covered with perpetual frost. The owner of one of these apartments opens the refrigerator door on very hot nights and sets an electric fan in front of it. In a short time the air of the whole apartment is cooled.

Brown Bread.

This is a new recipe and very nice: One-half cupful of Indian meal, one and one-half cupfuls of graham flour, one cupful of rye meal, one cupful of sour milk, one cupful of molasses, one cupful of water, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in sour milk and one teaspoonful of salt.

Rather Clever.

Something more than quiet humor is in this paragraph, printed at the end of the Edmonton Opera House regulations by Manager Brandon: "Any old ladies afraid of taking cold may keep on their hats or bonnets."—San Francisco Argonaut.

[illegible] the whole night if it is kept near a hot water bottle, the two wrapped in a woolen blanket. It has been known to keep warm until daylight.

The Babbitt Studio, Charleroi, Pa.

Hair Pulling Match; Two Are Arrested

Yesterday afternoon a lady by the name of Ida Bronson, hailing from Steeldale came to Charleroi with the intention it is said of having her picture taken. She started for Morris Studio, and got in the building all right, but it is said wanted to go into the wrong room.

Mrs. Morris the wife of the photographer it is stated remonstrated and as a result a pitched battle ensued between the two. The police were called and arrested both. At a hearing before Burgess Hott last night Miss Bronson was fined $2 and costs and the other discharged. The former at once brought suit against Mrs. Morris before Justice Wilson, and at a hearing the costs were placed on the defendant.

RESPONDENTS IN CASE AGAINST CITY ANSWER

Washington, Oct. 3.—In the action brought by the commonwealth, ex rel, C. L. V. Acheson, district attorney, upon the suggestion and complaint of James P. Brownlee, S. M. Charlton and C. W. Adams, qualified electors of the borough of Washington, against the burgess and the town council of Washington, the respondents have filed their answer.

They aver that the petition for a mandamus is premature, and that it is not made, appear that there has been any refusal on the part of the council to act upon the petition presented to that body. They allege that the law does not require them to act forthwith on the matter, but that they have a right to take the necessary time to consider and verify the same, either at its regular meeting or at a subsequent meeting if they deem it necessary. They deny that the question was tabled indefinitely, but simply tabled, and that this does not amount to a refusal to act. The answer in full shows the feelling of those councilmen opposed to the third-class city movement, and that they expect to take advantage of every technical point to delay the matter. The court not having time to hear the matter this week, and postponing the hearing until Monday, has shortened the time between now and the general election, and it is suggested that if council should act on the petition now, the question could not be acted upon this fall. In the answer prepared by Attorney G. P. Baker, solicitor for the borough, facts undisputed are averred as true in the first paragraphs of the respondents answer.

REV. MOORE PREACHES THE PLAIN GOSPEL

The Rev. J. H. Moore, of Taylorstown, who caused such a stir in the Christian church at Taylorstown by preaching the plain gospel to his flock a few days ago, and of whom an article was published last week, has stated that he would not deliver any more sermons in Taylorstown but would leave in a few days for the south where he had two places in view.

Mr. Moore stated that the trouble in the church had been peacefully settled and that the congregation had paid him $484.65, the balance of his year's salary. He remarked that it was his intention to preach the gospel according to the dictates of his own conscience regadless of how hard it hit the members of his flock wherever he chanced to be.

Last Sunday Mr. Moore preached in the school house at Taylorstown to a crowded house but said he would hold no more services in the town. He is from Kentucky and will go back to the southland.
